Summary: Short, soppy-ish songfic. I have written too many depressing stories, and I'd thought I'd write a happy one for a change. I think this is proof that I can't write happily. Song - She's a Rebel - Greenday. Zane POV

She's a rebel

Same key as always ;)

She's a rebel â€“ Greenday

I have taken out and missed a few verses as this song is too repetitive.

_She's a rebel
>She's a saint
She's salt of the earth
>And she's dangerous

Ah, Rikki. My one and only. She's gorgeous. Lovely blonde hair, lovely figure, and she has a wonderful personality. Most people don't like her personality, but I do. I couldn't stand being with some girly-girl like Cleo, I love Rikki as she can cope on her own, and she's tough. Tougher than me almost. __

_She's a rebel >Vigilante
Missing link on the brink
>Of destruction

We know everything about each other. It's amazing. She's a mermaid, whenever she touches water, and she has the power to boil water and summon lightening. I think her power suits her. You don't want to get on the bad side of Rikki, believe me. I know where she lives, and that took a lot of persuading. She is quite fragile inside, that's why I think it took her so long to trust us. She was gobsmacked when none of us made a fuss about where she lived, or how her and her dad had money issues. We didn't care. We're not that shallow. __

_From Chicago to Toronto
>She's the one that they Call old whatsername
>

I think people were surprised when they found out that we were going out. They normally think that popular kids would go out with popular kids. But I loved Rikki. Even if she was unpopular and rude. But once I got to know her, And found out that she was only rude as she though everybody would be rude to her, I think that's when we fully fell in love. When I told my dad that I was going out with Rikki, he had no idea who I was talking about. He knows most of the kids that go to my school through their parents, but he didn't know Rikki or her Dad.

>She's the symbol of resistance >and she's holding on my heart like a hand grenade

I never knew I could love someone as much as I love Rikki, not that fake stuff you read about. Genuine love, I would do anything for her. I couldn't live without her. I would do anything for her, God forbid. We are going to grow old together and live happily ever after.

>Is she dreaming
what I'm thinking
>Is she the mother of all bombs gonna detonate
>

We have our whole lives planned out ahead of us, see. We are going to move to Sydney, and buy a house there. We would both go to college and university. I wanted to be sports therapist, and Rikki liked the idea of being a journalist for a marine magazine. Then, we'd have two kids; a boy and a girl. We had chosen Chelsea for a girl, and Ben for a boy.

>Is she trouble
like I'm trouble
>make it a double twist of fate >or a melody that

_
>We are known as the 'trouble couple' we were both tearaway s, but then when we got together we kind of calmed down. Well I did, she's still stroppy. But I love that.

>She sings the revolution
the dawning of our lives
>she brings this liberation that I just can't define >nothing comes to mind

When I first saw Rikki, I suddenly realised what a waste of space my previous girlfriends were. Yeah, maybe they were pretty, but they had no personality whatsoever. But Rikki. Wow, my Rikki. She is gorgeous, and she has a wonderful personality. She's funny, nice, loyal. Everything you could ever wish for.

>She's a rebel
She's a saint

>She's salt of the earth

She's rebellious, and I love that. I think most boys would find that unappealing in a girl, but I'm not like them. I'm different. We're both different.

>She's a rebel, She's a rebel, She's a rebel, And she's dangerous

Rikki may be a rebel;

But she's my rebel.

End
file.
